

All blog entries can be done in text format or html. The way that I prefer to blog on the site is by linking a video or image and writing a paragraph or two on the topic which includes a text link or two.

This is how to link a url:

```

```

By using this method for linking you can copy and paste the above and paste the URL you'd like to link into the area that says URL. target="blank" means that the URL will open in a new blank window.

To make it a text link you must put the text you wish to link between the carrots...><

For example a link to xrocksthespot™ would look like this:

```
xrocksthespot™
```

If you'd like to render an image in your blog you can do so in a similar way. The code for uploading an image is:

```

```

So, if you wanted to link an image from a URL you'd do it like this:

```

```

An image link to xrocksthespot™ would look like this:

```

```
